

BANDRA SCHOOL GETS A NEW ART STUDIO

About 450 students of Pali-Chimbai Municipal School have a reason to smile as their school now has an art studio and an audiovisual room. The school has been adopted by Bandra-based NGO Aseema. The two facilities were inaugurated on Friday by deputy education officer of BMC, Mr. Rehman, and chief of the BMC's adoption programme Gita More Patil.

Dilbur Parakh, chairperson and trustee of Aseema Charitable Trust said, "Not all children are academically inclined. We feel there should be an overall development. We have computers and yoga classes as well. The art studio will help kids who are creative. A Bandra-based ad agency, TBWA India has agreed to sponsor the effort.

ROHIT BHATIA
DNA West Coast
6 August 2006